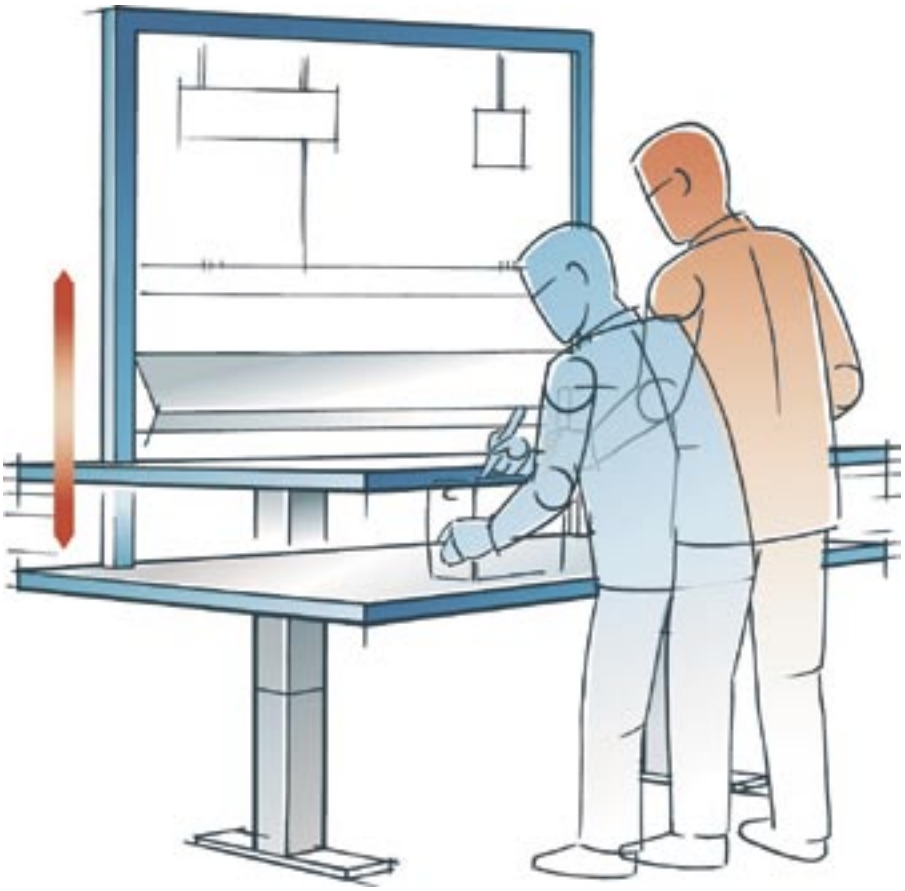
Solutions for adjustable industrial workstations



Diversity and customisation are important aspects in industrial work-stations, production floors and assembly lines. Employees should have the possibility to adjust their workplace to their individual needs and settings. SKF offers a large variety of products for an ergonomically ideal work environment.

Typical applications

- Workbenches
- Assembly lines
- Packaging tables
- Control and dispatch centres

Configuration of your industrial workstation

Incorporating SKF pillars into your workstation will help create ergonomically appropriate work patterns and ultimately result in satisfied users and increased productivity.

The SKF pillar system can operate tables with up to 6 legs in parallel for a total max. force of up to 18 000 N. And with the SKF control and operating units, you can adapt our pillar system exactly to your needs.
